

Dr. Jeff Salz
Introduction 2009

- Dr. Jeff Salz... has lived the life of adventure that many have dreamed of!
- An acclaimed explorer & mountaineer with a Doctorate in Cultural Anthropology. He has traveled to most of the corners of the planet: Patagonia - the Amazon - Outer Mongolia - Eastern Siberia - the Himalayas - the Andes and now ...
(name of present location).
- His passion for learning led him to study the folklore, legends and myths of individuals and cultures all over the world
- This passion also earned him a position with the faculty of San Diego State University at the young age of 23, where he was later named "Outstanding Professor"
- A Celebrated Author - his book, The Way of Adventure, shares the secrets of man's resilience to adversity - and is widely recognized as THE definitive book on adventure.
- Jeff is a Professional Innovator - he designed and instructed teambuilding and creativity training for the Walt Disney team that produced the film, The Lion King and continues to train top level executive teams at organizations such as Microsoft, eBay and The Walt Disney Company.
- An Internationally Known Television Journalist - he is a frequent host for the Discovery Network - he has appeared as the guest "adventure expert" on the CBS Early Morning Show.
- Please join me in extending a special (name of your group) welcome to...Dr. Jeff Salz!
